Red Theory Wrong -- Schwarz

BY BILL DORMAN

Poverty, contrary to misguided public belief, is not the cause of Communism.

This concept was the only new approach in the consideration of Communism which Dr. Fred D. Schwarz, M.D., seemed able to offer students in a talk on campus Thursday.

Schwarz, president of Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, is in Sacramento conducting his School of Anti-Communism.

Some people still believe the world is flat, Schwartz said, and some people still believe that poverty causes Communism.

Cites Difference

The only difference, the speaker pointed out, is that those who believe the world is flat are in mental institutions. . . those that still believe poverty causes Communism are in governmental institutions.

"If poverty caused Communism," he said, "the world would have been Communist centuries ago."

To understand Communism, Schwartz cautioned, one must understand its pathology.

This pathology, when applied to South American university students which the speaker dealt with in detail, can be put in a frame of reference based on five conditions which make Communism appealing to the intellectual.

Lists Conditions

This intellectual, Schwartz contends, is the background of Communism.

The five conditions given by Swartz are the notion that capitalism is evil and fosters war; the attractiveness of a materialistic philosophy; intellectual pride; unfilled religious needs; and finally, Communism attracts the perverted idealist.

These factors are the reason for Communist success in recruiting the South American student.

Only Answer

Schwartz said the answer to this problem is simply education of peoples all over the world. By making them understand the pitfalls of Communism, our way of life can survive, he added.

If this is not accomplished, he said, Communism will prevail over the whole world in a very limited amount of time.

Channel 10 to Present Hamlet Tape Tomorrow

Hamlet, which played to standing room only audiences for 11 performances in the Little Theatre, will be presented tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. on KXTV, Channel 10.

This taped version of the Sacramento State College production will be edited to 60 minutes playing time. Hamlet was taped on Sunday, April 28, in the Little Theatre. Featured was Larry Shumate's massive set reproduction of the interior of Castle Elsinore.

Dr. Gerald A. Larson, associate professor of speech arts, who directed this final mainstage production for the college, and Bob Kelley of KXTV acted as co-directors for the public affairs program.

Possible Entry

Hamlet, which played before a total of 4,000 at SSC, was selected as a possible entry in an interstate television contest against rival television stations for the award of Best Public Affairs or Service Program of the Year. KXTV has won the award for two years in succession.

Filming of Hamlet took 5 hours and included a full remote television staff. Trucks, equipment, cameras and intricate sound instruments were brought to the college.

The production was presented as part of the Sacramento County School District plan to give visual instruction in Shakespeare for high schools to watch and enjoy. With this special television program, the play will be able to be viewed by a much larger audience.

Retain Basic Story

Only a few modifications will appear in the one hour taped version of Hamlet. The basic story will be kept in tact even though several famous scenes, including Ophelia's Mad Scene and Hamlet's Speak the Speech I Pray You, will be excluded.

Ric Murphy will appear ni the title role of Hamlet with Georgia Larson, Al Valenchich, Evon Ray, Herman George and Danny Truhitte in the major roles. Herman George designed the elaborate costumes for the production.

Failure Topic Of Billings Talk

The Nerve of Failure will be the topic of Dr. Thomas Billings convocation address tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Men's Gym. This is the annual faculty convocation, and will be the last of the academic year.

Billings was chosen to present this convocation by a faculty committee earlier this year.. His topic relates to the sociological arguments regarding the nerve of failure, according to Dr. Willis J. Black, and should be of interest to all students.

According to Black, the faculty convocation speaker is chosen on the basis of general cultural and intellectual appeal to all students. Dr. Billings was chosen by the faculty committee on this basis.

Billings graduated from Springfield High School in Oregon in 1946, and received his B.S. degree from the University of Oregon in 1953. He went on to complete his PhD at the University of Oregon in 1960.

A veteran of World War 11, Billings is married, and a father. He is an Assistant Professor of Education, and has been a member of the SSC faculty since 1960.

Since coming to SSC he has colaborated with Dr. Raymond Endres to produce a quarterly publication called DIALOQUE; primer in civility. The quarterly was copyrighted by Billings, and was dedicated to creating a dialogue between men.

In the statement of purpose, communications, all dialoque, is said to have a uniting effct. However, to have this effect it must be a dialogue between persons who are committed by having taken a stand in the world.

Board of Directors

Lack of Response Cancels Awards

By JIM SHOCK

Annual Awards Night ceremonies, scheduled for last Friday night, were called off because of a lack of response from various departments. Margaret Schreeder, chairman of the event, reported to the Board of Directors Wednesday that although she had personally contacted all persons concerned, she had received little response.

After this report the BOD debated on whether the presentation should be cancelled completely this year or postponed until a later time. The board decided that it should be held later so that students who are deserving may be honored.

Dr. Donald Bailey, dean of students, said that he would announce to the faculty meeting Thursday that the response had been such that the event was called off.

Statute Turned Down

A statute recommended by the Statute Committee, designating rules for publicity on campus, was sent back to the committee for reworking.

After the document was offered for consideration and explained by committee member Paul Sax, it was questioned for about 45 minutes.

During this time it was amended eight times over the objections of Sax. President Darryl Enos expressed his view that, had it been passed by the board, he would veto it.

Lacked Support

Sax counted heads in an effort to find the three-fourth vote needed to override the veto, but with only seven of the twelve members present, he was unable to find support.

In other action the board approved executive appointments to a new committee. The committee will be known as the Judicial Procedure Committee and will be charged with the duty of helping the Statute Committee in the formulation of statutes in various campus areas.

Members Listed

It will be composed of these five members: Mike Evans, Richard Kimball, Ken Pharis, Phil Chuckatine and John Chavez.

The board also approved the selection of the Board of Publications by unanimous vote. They are Wilda Dorsett, as editor of next year's Statesman and Jim Shock as editor of The State Hornet. Both will assume the positions in the fall.

Israel Student Awarded Sierra Club Scholarship

Oshri Karmon, Sacramento State College freshman from Israel, has been awarded an annual Morley Fund Scholarship from the Sierra Club. As a recipient, Karmon will participate in extensive club pack trips and other activities.

The Morley Fund was established by the widow of Fredrick Hitchcock Morley as a memorial to his activities and interests. Teachers, students, foreign students and others who in some capacity will be able to pass on to others the benefits of a "wilderness education" are eligible for scholarships.

Information concerning Sierra Club trips and activities may be obtained from local club members.

Recreation Careers Theme Conference Here Saturday

Careers in recreation will be explored by several hundred Northern California high school students who are expected to attend the First Recreation Management Career Conference here on Saturday.

Dr. Jerome Needy, head of the College Recreation Department, announced that all high school students can obtain applications from their high school counselors or by writing the Department.

Demand Increase

"There are presently six jobs for every trained college graduate in recreation and the public demand for recreation is expected to increase four times in the next twenty years," Dr. Needy said.

Representatives of federal, state and local government agencies in recreation will discuss vocational opportunities during the morning segment of the conference.

The discussions will follow a tour of the campus facilities by students and a film on recreational careers.

See Aerojet

After lunch, participants will tour Aerojet-General Corporation and the Cordova Recreation and Park District.

Students will be guests of the college athletic department at the first High School Invitational Swimming Meet at 3:30 p.m. in the campus' Olympic-sized pool.

The Recreation Department is co-sponsoring the conference with the Sacramento Community Welfare Council's Recreation and Group Work Division.

European Jobs For Summer Still Open

Thousands of summer jobs in Europe have been made available to U. S. college students by the American Student Information Service. An ASIS spokesman recently announced at a press conference that the organization now has more than 8000 summer jobs on hand. Applications will be accepted until June 12.

Jobs are located in almost every country in Europe and students will receive exactly the same wages as the Europeans with which they will be working. A construction worker in Germany will receive $105 to $160 a month with the possibility of free room and board.

Among the almost endless variety of jobs are those such as towing water skiers in luxury resorts in Switzerland and modeling summer fashions in Paris. Most of the jobs, however are similar to those found in the U. S. during the summertime.

Examples are factory work in Germany, work in Swiss Alpine resorts, child care work in Finland, and camp counseling in Germany and Luxembourg. Farm and construction jobs are available in England, Spain and Israel.

Students interested in applying for summer jobs in Europe may write to the ASIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, for a 20-page prospectus giving all openings, wages and requirements and an application form.

Work experience and foreign language ability will be considered.

One dollar must be enclosed for the prospectus and an air mail reply.

Religious Arts Contest Slated Here Next Spring

The Fine Arts View The New Testament is the theme of a fine arts contest to be held early in the spring semester of next year.

Prizes will be awarded for top entries in the following categories: painting, drawing, sculpture, prose, poetry, short stories, essays, drama, photography, ceramics and music.

Applications for the contest, sponsored by Canterbury Association, will be accepted through the fall semester so that contributors will have ample time to prepare. Specific dates will be announced at a later time.

The contest will be open to all Sacramento State College students. For further information contact Canterbury Association president Jim McDonald, or the Canterbury Association mailbox in the Student Lounge.

Our Readers . . .

Editor, STATE HORNET:

Student apathy is no excuse. Out of 186 million people, only a handful attend sessions of our national legislature yet our representatives continue to work hard and, in most cases, fulfill their obligations.

So let us not use this overworked excuse for the failure of our own student government. There are many students who fail to attend important meetings and follow up on their projects. These students could have made this a great year at SSC. We cannot expect individual students to speak up for here is where our newspapers play such an important role in their use of criticism. The philosophy of reporting and the free press has been twisted with the Hornet by the fact that the people write to get a grade. This would tend to limit what they write. In taverns they sell madness by the bottle, in the Hornet they give it to us free.

Bleacher Views-West

We are very sorry that the Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges was not to provide funds, over and above the current operating budget of this college, for bleacher-type seating at Sacramento State College. The students and numerous local citizens feel that since bleachers have been provided at other state colleges in the past, such funds should be provided for this campus, now that an emergency has arisen.

We think it is very unfortunate that the issue has been placed in the context of "books versus bleachers". Our actual request was to purchase both books and bleachers with any funds that might be available at this time. The College has always taken the position that instructional needs are of highest priority, and this point was emphasized at the Board meeting. I have repeatedly emphasized this in my communications on this matter with the Chancellor's Office and I instructed Vice President Blair Mayne, who attended the Trustees meeting at Humboldt State College on May 8-10, to make positively clear again our position that any funds for bleachers would have to come from sources other than those currently appropriated to the operating budget of this institution. That Dr. Mayne carried out this assignment satisfactorily is attested by the fact that at least one member of the Board of Trustees has already commented very favorably to me on our position as reported by Dr. Mayne; namely, that although the athletic program is an integral part of our educational program, bleachers should not be provided at the expense of regular instructional needs. The fact that the Trustees did not vote any additional funds for books at their recent meeting is further evidence that the issue was not one of books versus bleachers.

The decision had already been made by the College Athletic Board that all football games next year would be played on our practice field with or without seating. We have some bleachers of our own, such as they are, and the University of California at Davis has offered to let us borrow some of their agricultural exhibit bleachers for a part of the 1963 season. However, this will leave us far short of the actual needs. The College will continue to look for a solution to this problem and will welcome any help that the community or the State can offer.

For many years, the athletic program has been a part of the overall educational program in the state colleges and has always been conducted on this basis at Sacramento State College.

There are those who maintain that this is a "tight money" year in California. Those who have worked with the state college system for many years have never been acquainted with an "easy money" year.

Wolves Dethroned In NCAA Coast Regionals By Fresno

The University of Nevada's Far Western Conference track champions had to settle for second place in the NCAA Pacific Coast Regional Track Championships Saturday in Davis. The meet was close all the way, but Fresno State, scoring 70 points, dethroned the Nevadans, who won the regional meet last year. Nevada scored 63.

Sacramento State tied with the University of California's Santa Barbara campus for third place with 17 points.

SSC's lone first place in the meet was captured by javelin thrower Mel Ross, with a heave of 215-6, over 30 feet ahead of Mickey Murray of Fresno State, who threw the spear 184-7.

Three meet records were set and two others disallowed because of the wind velocity of 7.9 miles per hour. Sam Workman ran a 9.5 100-yard dash and FSC teammate Sid Nickolas was clocked in 14.2 in the 120 high hurdles, but neither record was allowed.

The old pole vault record of 14 feet was broken by two men, Jeff Owens of Redlands and Rich Williams of Nevada, who each hit the 14-7¼ mark. Owens was awarded first place since he had fewer misses than Williams.

In the hop, step and jump competition, the old mark of 47 feet, 10 inches was bested by Charles Craig of Fresno who sailed 49-10. SSC's Steve Carnahan placed fourth with 44-6½.

Big Alex Darnes of Nevada, the FWC discus champion, hurled the disc 164 feet, 4 inches to crack the old record of 161-9¼. Don Biagi of SSC placed third in the discus with a best throw of 155-3½.

In the high jump, Bob Glyer of the Hornets went over the bar at 6 feet, 2 inches, good for third place.

The rest of the Hornets points came on a fourth place in the 330 intermediate hurdles by Jake Reimers, a fifth by Carnahan in the broad jump and a fifth in the hammer throw by Biagi.

The team totals follow: FSC 70, Nevada, 63, SSC and USSB 17, SF State 15, Cal Poly SLO, Redlands and Cal Aggies 14, Long Beach State 9, Chico State 6, Alameda State, San Fernando Valley State and Chapman College 0.

Brodie Winner In Coliseum Walker

Mike Brodie of SSC Friday night walked away with his second consecutive big competition win, when he won the 1,500 meter walking race in the annual Coliseum Relays in Los Angeles.

Brodie's time for the event was 6 minutes, 24.1 seconds, 9-1 seconds ahead of second place ifnisher Walt Jaquit of the Santa Clara Youth Village.

Brodie won the AAU Senior walking title at Echo Park in Los Angeles May 5th.

The Chico State Wildcats came from behind again on Saturday to overcome SSC's lead in the NCAA Pacific Coast regional golf tournament and took the team crown by a 59 to 593 margin.

The two day tourney held at the Yolo Fliers Club in Woodland saw the locals jump off to a quick lead in the first round as Dennis Harper led the Hornets with a three under par 69. Harper shot a 73 on the last day for a total of 142, just one stroke behind the leader, Chico's Dan Lippstreau.

Third in the tourney was the Cal Aggies, who were hosts for the affair, with a 649 total.

Also entered in the tourney was the University of California at Santa Barbara, who finished last.

Jerry Yuke shot a 73-76-149 for the Hornets while Bob Irving had a 72-77 for another 149 and Bill Godhardt came in with a 77-78 or a total of 155.

Cummer Defeated In NCAA Singles

Mike Cummer was the only member of the Hornet tennis team to make the finals of the Pacific Coast Regional Tennis Championships, but was defeated by Los Angeles State's Gil Rodriguez, 6-1, 6-2. Rodriguez went on to win the singles title by decisioning John Lee of LA State, 6-1, 7-5.

Team scoring for the Friday-Saturday meet went as follows: LA State, 14; University of California, Santa Barbara, 9; SSC, 4; Alameda State, 2 and Cal Aggies, 1.

Here are the complete results of the meet: Doubles—Gil Rodgers and John Lee, LA State, defeated Dick Van Auken and Bud Travers, SSC, 6-1, 6-1. Cummer and John McIntosh, SSC, defeated Tetsu Tanimolo and Jim Mitchell, LA State, 6-2, 6-4. Lee Reid and Don Gaynor, UCSB, defeated Mike Navone and Kato Kayoshi, Alameda State, 6-0, 6-1.
